How our live-in care works

Directly employed carers

Directly employed caregivers receive company benefits, holiday pay, and are covered by another caregiver if they are absent.

Regionalised service with centralised support

Your care team will be local to you, but thanks to our dedicated centralised support office teams, you and your loved ones will also have the reassurance of a large infrastructure of support.

Experienced managers in every branch

Our local managers live in the community and have frequently worked their way up through the company as carers, so they understand how residents want to be cared for.
